Biography of the Late CHARLES ADJEI

Charles Adjei was born on the 16th February 1988 at Nungua Accra to Mr. Samuel Adjei and Mrs. Elizabeth Boamah Adjei. Kobby as we all call him started his early education at Sacs Kindergarten Dzorzulu, He completed his Junior High Education at New Heaven Preparatory School -Kaprice. He gained admission at Suhum Sec Tech but was later transferred to Kinbu Technical where he completed his Senior High Education.

Charles Adjei continued his Tertiary education at IPMC where he gained Professional Diploma in System Engineering. Being the hard-working gentleman as we all knew him to be, he assisted several IT firms in setting up. His kid brother always called him the

“IT Guru”. On the 2nd of January he got employed at the Nationwide Technologies Limited and joined the Fuel Making department.

Kobby was a staunch member of the Jesus Generation Ministries, He joined the children's department choreography team and was nicknamed “Enye Akukor Mogya” by Getty and friends, which was one of his favorite songs anytime he was called to minister at the children's department. He was loved by many for his jovial and calmness behavior.

He has fought a good fight, he has won the race, and he has kept the faith, for the crown of the righteousness, the good Lord will surely bequeath to him.

Kobby may your gentle soul rest in perfect peace.

The LORD gave and the LORD has taken away;
may the name of the LORD be praised.

(Job 1:21)

Tribute from SIBLINGS

“Man, who is born of woman is of few days and full of trouble. He comes forth like a flower and fades away; He flees like a shadow and does not continue. Since his days are determined, the number of his months is with you; you have appointed his limits, so that he cannot pass.”

(Job 14: 1-2, 5) NKJV

Kobby!!! You went away so suddenly but siblings can never be parted. Your precious memories will never die. You gave no one a last farewell neither did you say goodbye.

You were gone before we knew it and only God knows why. A million times we will cry but indeed you have left to your maker. If love alone could have saved, you never would have died. In life we loved you dearly and in death we still love you.

In our hearts you hold a place no one else can fill. It breaks our hearts to lose you because you have left taking a part of us with you as God takes you home. Kobby we will meet again someday, we know in a better place. One thing that we thank God for is that He made you our brother while you were here on earth.

Indeed, we could not have asked for any other brother but you. Your calm nature was something worth emulating and it will forever be with us. We shed tears this day but your memories lives on. We have an assurance in Christ Jesus that “It is well with our Soul.”

Kobby Until We Meet Again, Fare Thee Well!!

Tribute from PARENTS

One of the most tragic and traumatic losses that can befall a parent is the death of a child. The death of a child means the loss of more than just a precious life. It represents the loss of future experiences and future

We wish we could wake up and see you standing there, then we would know that it was just a nightmare. Where do we start and where do we end? No one word for the pain and longing, a life meant for living; an old soul meant to grow older than ours has been cut-off by the cold clutches of death.

We have accepted that our son Kobby as we fondly call him will never come back and even if we ask questions, the answers will not come soon, and it is only known by God. Your death has left a painfully empty vacuum in our hearts. The opener of my birth gate, why have you left this early?

Charles your life though short, has made our life complete. Your presence raised our spirits each day. Your laughter made us happy even in tough moments. That special bond we had never allowed room for separation. We have words in our hearts that cannot be poured out and sleepless nights thinking you would come back.

This loss is indeed painful, but we take consolation in the word of God in (I Corinthians 15:55 & 57) "O death, where is your sting? O Hades, where is your victory? But thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Tribute to the Memory Of
CHARLES ADJEI - BY FAMILY

Your death was so sudden and shocking, on a sunny Tuesday afternoon 18th August, 2020, it shook the very ground the family was standing on.

The family is still in shock and asking why? How did it happen? But who can question God. The Good Book tells us that His thoughts are not our thoughts, neither are our ways His ways, but then in everything we should give thanks; for this is His will for us as Christians.

Kobee, as he was affectionately called, was the shy and reserved type who commanded so much respect in the family and deserved all the respect due him. As the eldest son of his parents and also the first of four children, he assumed the role of his father and instilled love, unity and togetherness in his siblings, as the cord that binds them together.

Kobee, we pray and hope that notwithstanding your passing, the cord of unity, love and togetherness that binds us will not be loosened but will rather be tightened.

You were very caring and always ready to assist us in all situations. We will miss you but you will forever be remembered for your kind heart and humility. We are however grateful to God for blessing this family with such a wonderful personality.

We are saddened by your sudden demise, your Dad, Mum, Siblings, Aunties, Uncles, Cousins, With tears in our eyes we accept that this decision is from God the Most High, Who knows best. Indeed, a mighty tree has fallen and uprooted, and a vacuum has been created. Fare thee well Kobee. Rest peacefully in the arms of the Lord.

Kobee, Da Yie, nyamenfa wo nsie

Tribute to the Late
CHARLES ADJEI BY MANAGEMENT & STAFF OF NATIONWIDE TECHNOLOGIES LIMITED

Charles, as he was affectionately called, joined the Fuel Making Department of Nationwide Technologies Limited on the 2nd of January 2016. His first posting was at the Takoradi Depots.

He settled in quickly and pushed himself to excel in his role. He was so dedicated to his role and often the first to report for assignment. At the Takoradi Depot they nicknamed him “Normal Level” because it was his way of responding to jokes. But Charles, your demise is not “Normal Level “at all. Charles was dedicated to his work so much so that he was always ready to relieve any of his colleagues when they were indisposed. A man of few words and even seemingly shy, Charles would rather devote his time to work than to chat with colleagues. He was just an impulsive workaholic who left an indelible mark on the minds of his colleagues.

After a few years of service, Charles fell ill and on doctor's advice was transferred to the Quantum Depot, Tema in 2019. Charles's colleagues in Tema described him as affable and caring, always ready to go the extra mile to help others. He was very committed to work and always the first to report to work. He was quiet in nature and he always had a smile. Though each one of us may have had a different relationship with our dear departed, it is certain that we all have one thing in common: our admiration, love and respect for a beloved brother, colleague and friend who has in one way or another deeply touched each and every one of us.

During the final period of his rather short illness, one could see the fierce determination with which he fought his illness.

Today, we join family and well-wishers in celebrating a special person who in his short life impacted his colleagues so much that he will forever be remembered.

May his dedication and selfless service continue to guide all as we memorialise him.

Charles da yie!

Rest in the Lord!

May your Soul rest in Peace!

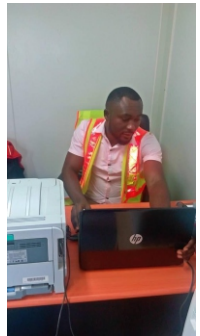

Nationwide Technologies bids you farewell. Damirifa Due!
